E-Verify Case Number:

Why you received this email

Your employer participates in E-Verify, a program managed by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and the Social Security Administration (SSA). E-Verify compares the information you gave on Form I-9, Employment Eligibility Verification, with records available to DHS and SSA to confirm that you are authorized to work in the United States.

You received this email because E-Verify provided a DHS and/or SSA Tentative Nonconfirmation (mismatch). A mismatch means that the information entered into E-Verify by your employer does not match records available to DHS and SSA. A mismatch does not necessarily mean that you gave incorrect information to your employer or that you are not authorized to work in the United States. If you received a mismatch, your employer should have given you a Further Action Notice. Visit www.e-verify.gov/employees to learn more about your rights and responsibilities during the employment verification process.

Did your employer give you a Further Action Notice?

- Yes. Follow the steps on the notice. You must decide whether to take action to resolve the mismatch as soon as possible within 10 federal government working days after E-Verify issued the mismatch, by {MM/DD/YYYY}. Employers may not take adverse action against you while you are taking action to resolve the mismatch and your E-Verify case is pending. If you decide not to take action or do not give your decision to your employer by the end of the 10th federal government working day after E-Verify issued the mismatch, by {MM/DD/YYYY} the case will be closed with a Final Nonconfirmation case result and your employer may terminate your employment.

- No. Contact your employer as soon as possible to get a copy of your Further Action Notice. The notice includes important instructions that you must address within 10 federal government working days after E-Verify issued the mismatch, by {MM/DD/YYYY}.
