Reissuance of Receipt Notices for Certain Employment Authorization Documents
USCIS began reissuing receipt notices (Form I-797, Notice of Action) to individuals who applied to renew their Employment Authorization Document (EAD) between July 21, 2016, and Jan. 16, 2017. These receipt notices, if they include a qualified category of eligibility code, can be presented with an expired or expiring EAD that has the same code as a List A document for Form I-9 as evidence of employment authorization and identity. For more information, read the USCIS News Alert.

Newly Hired Employees: Choose Yes and Enter Your Email Address on Form I-9
Newly hired employees have the option to provide an email address in Section 1 of Form I-9. If an email address is provided, E-Verify employers must enter it in E-Verify. Time-sensitive email notifications will be sent to employees alerting them to take action about their E-Verify case.

Form I-9 Q&A
Q - What steps should an employer take if they discover a Form I-9 is missing for a current employee?
A - 1) Provide the employee with the current version of Form I-9
2) complete the Form I-9 as soon as possible
3) Do not backdate the Form I-9.
See the Fact Sheet for more on Form I-9 guidance.

E-Verify Q&A
Q - How do I add new users or delete existing users?
A - Program administrators and corporate administrators can add new users or delete existing users after they have completed the tutorial. For more information on adding and deleting users, review the E-Verify user manuals.
